Notice.

DIFFICULTIES arising from the nature of the following work, the publisher has been compelled to remove to Philadelphia for the better execution of his plan. The editorial department has in consequence fallen into other hands. Mr. ALLEN'S present engagement rendering it impossible to superintend it in another city. The friends and relations of the different signers to the Declaration of Independence are therefore requested to direct their favors to the publisher, No. 443, Market-street, Philadelphia.

By Joseph M. Sanderson,

For Publishing by Subscription,

A Biography of the Signers

OF THE

Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exertion of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptiole rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives; their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow-citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers or half volumes of 200 pages, octavo, and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontis-piece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery.

STANZAS.

There is a feeling in the heart,—
A feeling which it well might spare,—
That will not ruin and depart,
But ever dwells and rankles there;
Nor music, mirth, nor rosy wine,
Nor love, nor woman's smiles divine,
Nor sanctity of prayer;—
Nor aught that holy man may say,
Can scare the ravening fiend away:

A sickness of the soul, the balm
Of Hope can neither soothe nor slake;—
A serpent that no spell can charm,
With eye eternally awake;—
A glance of fire, a tongue of flame—
Which time can neither tire nor tame,
Nor music's voice disarm;—
A living sense of lasting woe,
That poisons every bliss below.

It was not always thus!—he danced
The earlier hours of life away;
And snatch'd at joy where'er it chanced
To blossom on its lonely way;—
Then Hope was young, and bright and fair,
He knew no woe, nor wasting care,
But innocently gay,
Deem'd—reckless of the debt it owed—
'Twould always flow, as thus it flowed.

As childhood opened into youth,
Those feelings fled: he drank the springs
Of knowledge, and the source of truth,
(What the sage writes, the poet sings);
And read in nature's changing forms,—
The shifting shades of suns and storms,—
Unutterable things;
And sought unweariedly to cull
All that was wild and wonderful!

But even then, at times, would roll,
Unbidden and profoundly deep,
An awful silence o'er his soul,
That hush'd all other sense to sleep;
And then he saw—too near the springs
And wild reality of things,
And only wak'd to weep
That man should be cut off from bliss,
And exil'd to a world like this!

He loved—I will not say how true,—
The faithless tongue, perchance, might lie:
He did not love as others do,
Nor cringe, nor flatter, whine, nor sigh:
Look on his lowest heart, and trace,
What time can deepen, nor deface,
So strongly wrought the dye,
That did her lovely image bear,
And warm and glowing stamp it there.

He loved,—And does he not? ah! now,
Another worships at that shrine;
And he prefers a heartless vow,
Fond fool, where thou didst honor thine.
Now, where thou knelt, another kneels,
And from that holy altar steals
The sacred bread and wine,
Which thou had labored to obtain
To shrine thee from eternal pain.

Then from himself he strove to hide
The past, by mingling with mankind,
And left the maid he deified,
Idols elsewhere to find;
But from that sanctuary hurl'd,
He roves—an outcast on the world—
Nor evermore may bind—
Rock of the past, his future stay—
The bonds that have been wrench'd away.

He stands, as stands a ruined tower,
Which time in triumph desolates;
The ivy wreath that scorns his power,
A melancholy gloom creates;
What tho' it shine in light while set
The summer suns—its fibres fret
The stone it decorates;
So, smiles upon his pallid brow,
But wring the ruin'd heart below. AZO.

ELECTION PUN.

On lord Bury retiring from the contest at Arundel, Mr. Blake said to the electors,—"your cry has been, 'Bury for ever!' This is now mine—Bury for ever in oblivion, all animosities.

Franklin relates, that when he was printer at Philadelphia, one of his people, an excellent workman, never came to work till Wednesday. 'Francis,' said Franklin to him one day, 'surely you do not think of the future. If you work more diligently, you might lay up something against old age.' The workman answered, 'I have made my calculation: I have an uncle, a druggist, in Cheapside, who has just set up in business with the resolution to work for twenty years, till he has saved 4000l. after which he intends to live like a gentleman. He thinks to make himself a wholesale gentleman; I will be one by retail; I had rather be so, and do nothing for half the week during twenty years, than be so the whole week twenty years.'

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY MORNING, December 11.

A correspondent of the New-York Gazette, hopes that the subject of the establishment of a Board of Trade at the seat of government, as suggested in the New-York Gazette of the 1st inst. will not escape the immediate attention of the members of congress. Such a Board, composed of intelligent merchants, of known long standing as to talent and integrity, would result in incalculable advantage to the revenue of the United States.—The propriety too, of exacting cash for duties on importations, in most cases, is another project, which, it is believed, would more effectually secure the interests and prosperity of the country.—This measure would go far towards the encouragement of American manufactures, and, in some measure, obviate the necessity of other acts to protect manufacturers. THE MACEDONIAN AND LORD COCHRANE.

We take pleasure (says the Boston Patriot of Monday) in informing the public, that Mr. John S Ellery, owner of the Macedonian, received a letter yesterday morning from the Hon. John Q Adams, Secretary of State, informing that he had submitted Mr. Ellery's letter and the documents accompanying it to the President, and that the President had directed him to inform Mr. Ellery, that a public vessel of war would be dispatched immediately, to demand justice agreeably to the laws of nations.

Thus, adds the Patriot, will foreign nations be taught, whether they belong to the old world or the new; whether they style themselves royalists or patriots; that justice to our citizens and respect to our flag, is what the United States will enforce and command.

The State Bank of North Carolina has declared a dividend on the old stock of four per cent. for the six months ending on Monday week.

Charleston, Dec. 4.

The trial of George Clark, for piracy, in the Federal Circuit Court, now sitting in this city, was concluded on Thursday last—the Jury found him Guilty. The trial of his associates commenced yesterday. [Gaz.

From the N York Daily Adv of Dec. 7.

We were called in this office yesterday, to witness a very solemn and affecting dispensation of Providence. Mr. Gideon Kimberley, late of the house of Waring and Kimberly, for some time past a resident at Brooklyn, L. I. but long known as a respectable and wealthy merchant in this city, while sitting in the office, and engaged in conversation with Mr. Townsend, was suddenly struck with an apoplexy, and died almost instantaneously in his chair. Medical aid was called as fast as possible, but not the slightest hopes remained of his restoration. It is probable, that from an apparent state of health, he was in less than a minute a corpse. A coroner's inquest was immediately summoned, who, after a very impressive address from that officer, returned a verdict that Mr. Kimberly died by the visitation of God.

Death is a solemn event under any circumstances, even those of the most common and ordinary character. But when we see a man in the full possession of health, and the expectation of enjoying many days, surrounded by all the advantages of wealth and independence, thus summoned in a moment, and without any previous admonition of his approaching fate, in the world of spirits, the effect upon the minds of the spectators and bystanders is, or at least ought to be, of a deep and abiding character. Who that witnesses, or is told of such an event as that under consideration, can fail to feel an infinite importance to the divine injunction—"BE YE ALSO READY."

From the Portsmouth Oracle.

THE SMOKY WEATHER.

The late smoky weather has revived the old "fiction," that this phenomenon is caused by actual smoke. This opinion is among the strange absurdities, that men entertain merely for want of consideration, Such was the opinion, that the salt phenomenon after the September gale was caused by the spray of the sea, carried over land by the wind. A little consideration would convince any one that this was impossible in the nature of things, and could not happen without an alteration in the laws of nature, or a special interposition of the all-directing Providence.

To state a few facts respecting the appearance of smoky weather, will, I believe, be sufficient to refute the notion of its being produced by the smoke of existing fires.

1. This phenomenon happens at all seasons of the year—in the dead of winter, when the earth is covered with snow, as well as at any other time.

2. It appears at sea as well as on land.—In 1814, vessels arriving from Europe, reported it many days sail from land.

3. It is extensive, appearing over an extent of many hundred, perhaps thousand miles at the same time.

4. The natural tendency of smoke is upwards as every one must observe.

5. How impossible is it for the smoke of fires covering a few hundred acres of ground, or even many thousand, to fill such an extent of atmosphere.

If it be asked—what is the cause? I shall answer, that it is a disposition of the air—a state of the atmosphere, produced by its own internal operations, as much as clouds, vapor, different aspects of weather, rain, &c. The particular substance of which it is composed, is constantly, as I conjecture, floating in the higher regions of the atmosphere, and may descend and collect on the surface of the earth from causes existing in the lower, such as a temporary diminution of its elastic and buoyant state. That this substance was originally, and is now, smoke, in different stages of decomposition, is rather probable. It is well known that smoke is very antiseptic.—How durable it may be, or what time it may require to decompose, I would not pretend to guess.

Nothing is more groundless than the fears of some people at dark days. C.

P. S. Since writing the above, I see it reported that the weather has been smoky and dark as far at sea as it was on the land.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF VIRGINIA.

Yesterday, both houses convened in the Capitol, according to law.

The House of Delegates met in their Hall, at the early hour of 11, and having formed a quorum, proceeded to business.

Mr. Wm. Munford was appointed Clerk, without opposition.

Mr. Lion Banks, of Madison, was then nominated to the chair, and re-elected without opposition.

The following officers were also re-elected:—Mr. John Jordan, Sergeant at Arms; and Messrs. John Brown, Henry H. Southall John Stubblefield and Thomas Davis, doorkeepers.

On motion the rules of the last Assembly were adopted as the rules of this House.

The annual communication was received from the Governor, of which, and the accompanying documents, 250 copies were ordered to be printed.

The House adjourned till this day at twelve o'clock.

The SENATE formed a quorum; 18 members present, 6 from the new districts.

Mr. Edward Watts was re-elected speaker.

Mr. Thomas Hansford, clerk.

Ten persons were named as candidates for the post of Sergeant at Arms. Major James Baytop, of Gloucester, was elected.

Messrs. Littlebury Allen and Julius Martin appointed door keepers.

The Governor's communication was read, some other minor business transacted, and the House adjourned.

About 183 members of both houses were sworn in at an early hour; a thing unprecedented for many years.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Wednesday, Dec. 8.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The following Members, in addition to those already announced, appeared yesterday, were qualified, and took their seats, viz. from Pennsylvania, Mr. Dennison; from Virginia, Mr. Ballard Smith; from Georgia, Mr. Terrell.

The following other members appeared this day, viz. from North Carolina, Messrs. Davidson, Hooks, Slocumb, and Settle; from Virginia, Messrs. Johnson and Randolph; from South Carolina, Mr. Lowndes.

The following committees were announced to have been appointed by the Speaker, in pursuance to the order of yesterday and the preceeding day.

To take into consideration the Constitution of the State of Alabama—Messrs. Anderson, Taylor, and Pleasants.

Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills—Messrs. Darlington and Foot.

Mr. Holmes, of Massachusetts, presented a memorial from the People of Maine, praying to be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states, together with a copy of the constitution formed for the state; which was referred to a committee of five members, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Scott, of Missouri, presented the memorial of the Legislature of the Territory of Missouri, praying to be authorised to form a constitution of state government, and to be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states; which was also referred to a select committee.

On motion of Mr. Rhea, it was resolved, that the house do now proceed to the appointment of the standing committees, pursuant to the Rules and Orders of the House.

[The effect of this order is, that the Speaker proceeds to appoint them, and that they will be announced to the House to-morrow.]

Mr. Shaw of Massachusetts, introduced a joint resolution authorising the transmission, free of postage, of any documents which, during the present and any future session, may be transmitted to either House of Congress by the President or any of the Heads of Departments. Which resolution was twice read, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, and subsequently read a third time and passed.

Mr. Strong, of New-[illegible] gave notice that on to-morrow he should ask leave to introduce a bill to prohibit the further extension of slavery within the territories of the United States.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

On motion of Mr. Taylor, of New-York, the House resolved itself into a committee of the whole on the state of the Union, Mr. Nelson, of Virginia, being called to the Chair.

The President's message of yesterday being taken into consideration—

Mr. Taylor, offered for the consideration of the committee the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, That so much of the Message of the President of the United States as relates to the subject of carrying into effect the late treaty between the United States and Spain; the condition of the independent governments of South America; the admission into our ports of foreign ships of war and privateers, and all other subjects of foreign affairs, be referred to a select committee.

2. That so much of the Message as relates to fortifications and other military subjects, be referred to a select committee.

3. That so much as relates to the navy, naval depots, and the protection of our commerce upon the Ocean, be referred to a select committee.

4. That so much of the Message as relates to manufactures and to our commercial intercourse with British Colonial ports, be referred to the committee of Commerce and Manufactures.

5. That so much of the Message as relates to the suppression of the slave trade, be referred to a select committee.

6. That so much of the Message as relates to the subject of revenue, be referred to the committee of Ways and Means.

These resolutions were separately agreed to without debate, excepting some conversation respecting that which relates to the committee of commerce and manufactures, in consequence of a motion yesterday made by Mr Little, of Maryland, and now pending, to distribute the subjects of commerce and manufactures to two distinct committees.—The resolutions, however, were agreed to in the above shape; and, being reported to the House, were also severally agreed to. After which—

Mr. Taylor, again rose. The House, he said, agreed to refer the several subjects adverted in the President's Message, be held in his hand some other resolutions on the subject of great national concerns which were not referred to in the Message. Such propositions, it had appeared at the last session proper to present directly to the House, and not to offer them in committee of the whole whilst the President's Message was under consideration. He should therefore now move them. The first of these resolves, he said, related to the organization and discipline of the Militia. It would be recollected, on this subject there was made, at the last session, by a highly respectable committee, an elaborate Report, which had not been acted on for the want of time. For the purpose of reviving the consideration of this matter at an early period of the session, and assigning to it a select committee, he offered the first of the following resolves. The second of them related to the improvement of the Indian Tribes, in the arts of civilized life. It would be recollected, he said, that at the last session of Congress an appropriation had been made, of ten thousand dollars per annum, towards accomplishing this important object. It was desirable to enquire how this money had been expended, and also, whether any thing more could be done towards this object by Congress. The third of the resolves related to the subjects of Roads and Canals. An appropriation of very large amount had been made at the last session, for the completion of one very important and truly national Road. It was worth enquiry, how that money had been expended, and would be a proper subject of consideration, whether there were not other objects of the same character and of equal interest, that well deserved the attention of Congress. The subject of the Public Buildings referred to in the fourth resolve, would necessarily require examination by a committee, &c. The last of these resolves related to the subject of Revolutionary Pensions; which had excited great interest in the country, and certainly deserved; from the amount of expenditure on this object, the early attention of this House. With this brief preface, Mr. T. moved the following resolves:

1. Resolved, That the subject of organizing and disciplining the Militia, be referred to a select committee.

2. That the subject of improving the Indian tribes in the arts of civilized life, be referred to a select committee.

3. That the subject of Roads and Canals be referred to a select committee.

4. That the subject of the Public Buildings be referred to a select committee.

5. That the subject of Revolutionary Pensions be referred to a select committee.

6. That the said select committees have leave to report by bill or otherwise

The question was taken on these resolutions, without debate, and decided in the affirmative without opposition.

The consideration of the resolve for amending the rules of the House, so as to direct the appointment of a committee of Commerce and another committee of Manufactures, in lieu of the committee of Commerce and Manufactures heretofore annually appointed was then called for, when considerable discussion ensued; and the question on the proposed amendment to the rules was then taken and decided affirmatively.

For the motion,	88
Against it,	60

The House then proceeded to ballot for a Chaplain to Congress, on the part of the House. On the first ballot, the votes were—

For the Rev. Burgess Allison	75
Rev. Mr. Smith	61
Rev. Mr. Post	18

No choice having been effected by this ballot, Mr. Post's name was withdrawn from nomination, and a second ballot took place, of which the following was the result:

For Mr. Allison	81
Mr. Smith	78

So the Rev. Mr. Allison was chosen Chaplain to Congress on the part of the House of Representatives.

STATE OF ALABAMA.

The resolution from the Senate, declaring the admission of the State of Alabama into the Union on an equal footing with the original states, was received and twice read. With considerable opposition as to the day on which it should be read a third time, to-day was determined on; and it was read a third time, finally passed, without a division, and returned to the Senate. [The yeas and nays were required on its passage, but the requisition was not sustained by one fifth of the House, the necessary number.]

And the House adjourned.

BITE OF THE RATTLE SNAKE.

The very particular account of the sickness and death of Mrs. Houtzberger, published some time ago in our paper, has been copied into most of the papers, and excited some attention. In the Sunbury Times, we find the following article on the subject:

Mr. Printer.—Reading an interesting account of the manner in which Mrs. Hontzberger, near Greensburgh, (Pa.) was affected by the bite of a rattle-snake, I regretted, that a remedy against the venom of this reptile, long known, was not applied. The expressed juice of the plant called white hoarhound, (Marrubium of Linnæus) copiously administered to the patient, it is confidently believed, will effect a speedy and absolute cure.

The writer, it is true, has never had it in his power to witness its effects on a human being, but he has known many instances of beasts being not only relieved, but entirely cured by its internal application. Bruise the plant, and administer to an adult, from half a gill to a gill of the expressed juice, repeating the dose until the alarming symptoms begin to subside. To a horse, a pint of the juice should be given at a time, by forcing it down his throat, from the mouth of the bottle. The effects of this remedy have been so powerful and decisive, when it has been used, that it is earnestly recommended for trial, by those who may receive a similar unfortunate bite. A. B.

"JUST RUB ALONG."

A Lesson for Hard Times,—A Fact.

MR. EDITOR.—When I was a boy, I was sent to mill, about three miles from my father's house. Just before reaching the mill, I had to pass the cottage where the miller lived. He was a man considerably advanced in years; was as honest as Aristides; his wife was one of the most pleasant and good natured women in the world. They had a large family, and being in the vale of adversity, made hard shift to get the comforts of life; yet were perfectly contented and perhaps were never heard to complain—for whatever Providence bestowed upon them, they accepted with gratitude, yet quietly submitted to all the divine dispensations without a murmur; and the simple, though significant expressions of the good old folks, were often quoted by those in higher spheres. As I have said, before arriving at the mill I must pass their dwelling; and as I came near the house, the old lady came to the door, spoke to her youngest son who was near the house, and whose name was Joshua, (for she always preferred scripture names for her children) in the following words: "Joshee, Joshee, run out in the lot, pick up some sticks and fetch them in, so that I can boil off the wort, and we'll rub along." If she had the revenue of an empire at her disposal or had been mistress of the treasures of Crœsus, she could not have appeared more contentedly happy, than she did at the time when she made this address to her little son. It was a complete specimen of nature's eloquence. The serenity of her countenance, her air, her manner, were such as made an impression on my mind which time will never efface; although it was near thirty years ago, and I then but a boy.

I have often made much the same of the above incident, as Dr. Franklin did of his whistle;—for, when I feel disposed to murmur because not as prosperous as I could wish, I called to mind good old Mrs. M. and say to myself, well, 'I'll rub along.'

When I see a mother bringing up her daughter on the lap of indulgence, gratifying her in every capricious whim; not allowing her daughter to wash a dish or make a cheese, for fear of soiling her 'lilly hands,' I say, when your daughter becomes a mother, I fear she will be obliged 'to rub along.'

If I see a young lady, who, in her father's house, enjoys all that 'heart can wish;' about to 'strike hands' with a man who frequents taverns and tipling shops, whose midnight hours find him at the card table; and who has no merit beyond his watch chain and plaited ruffle: I say, poor girl, not many years will pass, before your husband will be in jail, or run away, you left to shift for yourself and unless the town assists you to a support, the children will but just 'rub along.'

When a man is about to leave his farm which furnished him all the necessaries of life, to enter a crowded city, expecting to support his family by retailing Wares and Merchandize—something whispers me, he had better raise his own pudding—for if he leaves his present employment, and goes into trade he will but just 'rub along.'

JONATHAN.

LEWIS XV.

The Duke of Orleans, who was regent of France during the minority of the present King, Lewis the XVth, was most debauched in his life, and abandoned in his morals. And yet he appeared to be a prince of great humanity, and a lover of public justice. When Count Heron was sentenced to be broke on the wheel, Duke D'Aremberg, and the whole family of Horn, applied to the Regent for a pardon. But not succeeding in this attempt, and finding the Regent inflexible, they requested that the Count's sentence might only be changed, and to avoid an ignominious death, which would be a lasting stain in the whole family, that he might have the favor of being beheaded. But this likewise the Regent refused, and made this answer:—'Count Horn is my relation as well as yours: but the infamy is not in the punishment, but in the crime.' When the Prince of * solicited the Regent to pardon a murder, which he had committed, after having been pardoned for the same crime once or twice before; 'I will pardon you,' says the Regent, 'but take notice, and keep this in your memory, I will certainly pardon the man, whoever he be, that kills you.' This monitory had a proper effect, and put a stop to the barbarities of this Bourbon Prince, who presumed that his quality of Prince of the blood was a license for murder. These two answers of the Regent of France deserve to be written in letters of gold.

Round Hill for Sale.

BY virtue of a deed of trust from Daniel M'Pherson and wife to me, under date of the 30th of May, 1816, and for the purposes therein prescribed, I shall sell at public auction, on the premises, on FRIDAY, the 10th of December next, a tract of land, in the county of Fairfax, known by the name of lying on the stage or Colchester road, distant about 6 miles from Alexandria, and containing 148¼ acres, more or less;—reserving, however, to George Triplett his right to one moiety of the dwelling house and yard. This land has been very considerably improved by judicious cultivation, and there are now growing crops of small grain upon it.

Also, one other tract, being an equal undivided moiety of a tract of land in the said county, contiguous to the foregoing, and supposed to contain 25 acres 2 poles.
The terms of sale will be, viz.—one third of the purchase money to be paid in cash, at the time the property is struck off to the bidder, at whose risk the property will be immediately resold, if the money be not paid. One third payable in six months; & the remaining third in 12 months, to secure the payment of which, a lease on the property will be retained.

Extracts from a Law

Of the Corporation to provide for the speedy extinguishment of Fire, &c.

Sec 1. That every proprietor of any dwelling house, or store house within the limits of the corporation, shall, at his or her own expence, provide as many fire buckets, made of good and suitable leather, and containing at least two and a half gallons, as shall be equal in number to the stories in such house. Provided, That no proprietor shall, in any case be compelled to provide more than three buckets for one house. Every proprietor who shall neglect to procure the proper number of buckets in the manner herein directed, shall forfeit and pay one dollar per month for each bucket he shall so neglect to procure. The proprietors of all dwelling houses and store houses which shall hereafter be erected within the corporation, shall furnish the same with buckets in the manner before prescribed, within two months after such houses shall be occupied; or failing to do so, shall be subject to the penalties before mentioned.

2. Where the proprietor of any dwelling house or store house residing out of the limits of the corporation, shall neglect to comply with the requisitions of this act, the occupier of such house shall within two months after coming to the possession thereof, procure the necessary buckets; and failing to provide the same, shall be subject to the like penalties as are in such case imposed on the proprietor.

5. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of police, once in six months at least, to visit the houses within the limits of the corporation to examine and take an account of the buckets belonging to such houses, and to report to the mayor the names of all persons who shall neglect to provide and keep the same, according to the requisitions of this act

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, on Thursday, the 11th inst. a negro man, named DICK, who sometimes calls himself Dick Douglas. He is a small man about 5 feet 6 inches high, and is not a very black man. I purchased him from the estate of Edgar McCarty, esq. Cedar Grove, Fairfax county, Va. and it is likely that he may be lurking about that neighborhood or Colchester, as he has a wife at capt. Berry's of the latter place; or he may have gone to Loudoun county, as he has lived there in the neighborhood of Wm. McCarty and John McCarty, near Leesburg. He had on and took with him an old grey cloth coat and a brown do pantaloons of drab colored domestic cloth. He is much addicted to liquor, and is a coarse shoemaker. I will give 20 dollars if taken in the district of Columbia. Thirty dollars if taken in Fairfax county, and the above reward if apprehended in any other place, and secured so that I get him again; and reasonable charges if brought home. WM. B. STUART.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber living in King George's county Va. on Monday the 22nd March, a yellow man named about 22 years of age, his fore teeth wide apart, and cannot speak very quick—had on Virginia cloth clothes and carried off a shaggy great coat, he has a father named Peter Hall, who lives with the widow Morgan, at Oak Hill, Fauquier Co. and his grandfather, old Frederick Hall, is supposed to be living at Mr. Terrett's near Alexandria, and it is likely he may be lurking about there.—I will give the above reward for apprehending and securing said fellow so that I get him again, and reasonable charges if brought home. Masters of vessels and others are forewarned against harboring or carrying off said fellow tf June 14

JAMES,

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, living near Aldie, Loudoun county, Virginia, on the night of the 11th inst. a negro man, who calls his name NED BIAYS. He is a shrewd, intelligent negro, about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high; 30 years of age, well made, active and polite Had on when he went away, a sky colored coat, and corded pantaloons. His right eye sore, apparently occasioned by a blow, the blood having settled around it. His ears have been pierced, and had green silk in them when he went away. It is expected he is now lurking about Fairfax court-house and Aldie. The above Ned Biays ran away on the night of the 25th of last Aug and was caught on the 11th inst on the night of which he effected his elopement by drawing the staple to which he was fastened by the handle of a pan while there was no person in the kitchen but himself. He was caught on the 11th inst. a few miles below Aldie, but I think it improbable that he has gone near the same place again. I will give 100 dollars if he is taken out of the county, and fifty if taken in the county, and secured so that I get him again, and all reasonable charges if brought home. GEO. GULICK.
P S. It is supposed that the said negro has obtained papers of freedom, or a free pass, or something of the kind. G. G.

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, a smooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.
I. T STODDERT,
West Hatton, near Allen's Fresh Post-Office, Charles county, Maryland.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY on the 25th of April last, a man called NED, formerly the property of Mr. Fitzhugh, of Fairfax, and by him sold to Hepburn & Dundas He had on when he went away an old country blue and white cloth coat, and kersey trowsers—his right hand in a sling, in consequence of the kick of a horse Ned is a stupid looking fellow, and hesitates very much when he speaks I will give fifty dollars if apprehended in the District, or the above reward for apprehending him out of the District, so that I get him again.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high; very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.
